WINNERSOf the Premiums at Fern Creek Fair.*Ninth Annual Fair a Decided Success—Large Crowd Attend Each Day And Everybody Pleased.

Saturday marked the close of the ninth annual fair of the Jefferson County Fair Association. Large crowds attended each day and every body seemed to enjoy the exhibits shown from every viewpoint. Fine stock and farm and other products were there but usual.

There were several features that deserve special mention, but lack of space will make it only outline the hit of the whole fair. When Martin Linda, H. Laufman and Wm. Downing drove into the show ring the great crowd or people arose to their feet and yelled. The Rocky Ford cantaloupe, John Haag, Netted Gem cantaloupe, S. A. Stivers.

HORSE SHOW

Tenth Annual Exhibit To Be Held At

Armory in Louisville Week of October 11th.

The prize-list for the Louisville
Horse Show, the tenth annual exhibition of which will be given at the First Regiment Armory in the metropolis of the state during the week of October 11, has been completed, and indicates that the horsemen of the country and the country at large will have a rich array
of money and plate to contest for.

The total amount will run well over $12,000, and insures competition by the finest horseflesh in the country.

Kentucky saddleurs, as usual, have a large proportion of the entries and the horses of the state, and it is expected that the country at large will have a rich array

of money and plate to contest for.

The fair show was fair for this season.

Exhibitors should read the rules more carefully and enter their displays more intelligently and they would be so disappointed with the awards.

Several unfortunate incidents occurred during the show, but the fair, it is not necessary to mention them. A good fair is needed.

To go and remedy any defects.

Let the management make good and enforce them. Let the public know what is right.

Miss Harry Gentry is still very badly off with typhoid fever.

David Wright, who was seriously injured near the fair grounds,
is improving.

Frank Stivers, oldest son of Frank Stivers, is seriously ill.

In the harness classes the Louisville entries were the best and most unexcelled. Last year the features of this division were the exhibitions of Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Judge William H. Moore, and it is practically certain that both will be back this fall. In addition C. W. Watson, Miss Eunice and Mrs. Marvin Hart, and J. W. Herriman are expected to show. Altogether the prospects for the show are unusually brilliant.

SEATONVILLE.

Sept. 9—Quite a number from here attended the fair Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. John Phillips and Mrs. Joe Hank had as their guests Thursday and Thursday night, Mrs. Bill Queen, Wm.
Nelson Yester and family and Mrs. E. C. Jeffers and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Yates and family,
Misses Ida and Minnie Jones spent Sunday with Mr. Cratley and wife, of Louisville.

Miss Mattie Miller, Bennie Tyler,
Misses Mary and May Pounday, Sonda
Garrison and Mrs. Miles Dorsey and Elizabeth Stiles.

Messrs Arch Tunnell and Oran Frederick spent Sunday afternoon with L. G. Bradbury.

Rev. N. A. Jones and wife were the guests of K. L. Mills and family Sunday afternoon.

W. H. Johnson and sister, Miss Myrtle, spent Sunday in Louisville.

Rev. W. H. Allen closed a very successful meeting at Cedar Springs last Tuesday night. He will fill his regular appointments here the fourth and fifth.

Mrs. S. S. Jean continues quite well.

Mr. L. C. Owings and wife of Jeffersontown spent Sunday afternoon with Chas. C. Wheeler and family.

Miss Myrtle Johnson is the guest of Mrs. Orr Wigington of Whitleyfield.

Every Reader Will Concede the Truth of This Statement.

One who suffers with backache or a form of kidney trouble wants a cure, not merely temporary benefit. Rev. Marshal M. D. Doan, of the First Presbyterian Church, New York, makes a statement in this connection that is worth attention.

Says he: "I have beenakenly taken with a attack of kidney trouble, had several pain, and lots and was generally run down. Doctors were not able to help me, so I can use Doan's Pills." They brought me relief, and as I continued taking them, my backache disappeared and the kidneys were restored to normal condition."

BAILED EGGS UNPOPULAR

Scramble Themselves En Route and Play Havoc With Letters.

Eggs, as an article of mail transportation, are not popular with postal authorities.

It developed that some one in Canada had mailed three dozen eggs to an address in Brandon, B.C., and when Postmaster E. T. McLean received a small bag he found it dripping with greenish liquid. Addressed "Postmaster" from a letter office, and they had to send to the letter office.

A postman could not arise early originating in the United States as such things as eggs are not liked in this country.

Slighted by the Press.

With the exception of contributions and homely salutes as we have, it seems surprising that the business of selling books and periodicals does not receive more credit to creditable people should continue to flourish, says a writer in Hart's Weekly. In a case that was in the hands of the firm of Hart, Schaffner & Waugh, Chicago, contracted to pay $7,500 for 12 volumes of the works of Charles Dickens, the firm was compelled to give up and gave notes for $35,000 more, and the case came to court on the suit of a third party, who was given the right to the notes. The books are supposed to have cost about $50 apiece. There has been no notice of the case, and usually the vendors of these literary luxuries have dealt with rich old ladies of limited means, but there is no doubt that have imposed wonderfully on folk who should have known better, and are said to have been controlled. Men, however, do not regard that any one of them has been sent to prison yet, which argues that their business has deserved the attention that it has deserved.

Ring Life Preserver.

And many docks are life preservers of the ring type, to drown men who fall into the water. The proper way to approach or grasp such a life preserver is to hold the ring and lay it flat, to take hold of the side and press down with all your weight. This causes the ring to grip the air and down over the head. The average person struggling about in the water will grip up the life ring and put it over his head, thus causing him to sink deeper.

Mortgage on an Cat.

A mortgage on cat is not often heard of. However, the other day there was a news item in a lawyer's office at Columbus, Ohio, a chatted mortgage, the consideration of which was $25,000, and the title of the property which the money was secured was described as "a cat called John."

THESE REASONS EACH WITH Two Legs and Ten Fingers.

A Boston woman who is a fond mother writes an amusing article about her experience feeding her baby.

Among other things she says: "Three chubby, rosy-cheeked boys, Bob, Jack and Dick, aged 6, 4 and 2 years respectively, are the result of our researches in selecting and recommending the food. Grape-Nuts, for the youngsters have been fed on Grape-Nuts since infancy, and have been twice as well when other children have been given candy."

"I gave a package of Grape-Nuts to a neighbor who lived two miles away, and when I went to call, I found her kids and markets birds let them be prime condition—well-fattened and carefully dressed, cleaned and prepared for eating. And when I saw in nearly every village who wanted such products a little better than the common run of only half-decent quality, and then there were always along, in every place, good feed artificials, they want eggs to eat.

"Food Staffs by Weights.

Doctor Willey, the chemist of the Department of Agriculture, is pushing legislation to induce the sale of food stuffs by weight instead of measure.

The doctor severely arraigns the manufacturers who have steadily opposed the bill, and has written to the Pure Food Law to compel the sale of foods by weights.

"Food Staffs by Weights.

"Food Staffs by Weights.

"There's a Reason."

Look in pugs, for the famous little book, "The Road to Health."

Ever read the above letter? A new saying comes from time to time. The results are true, and full of human interest.

The Farm

To Prevent Gapes.

Present remedies are likely to make gape worse than before, and prevent, therefore, to use preventive instead of waiting until the disease appears and then try to cure it. One definite remedy taken with a attack of kidney trouble, had severe pain, and lots and was generally run down. Doctors were not able to help me, so I can use Doan's Pills. They brought me relief, and as I continued taking them, my backache disappeared and the kidneys were restored to normal condition."

Self-Adjusting Flood Gate.

A flood-gate that is self sustaining is pretty handy on the farm where large creeks pass through and much water is required.

Take a good-sized oak log and fashion it at each end like a windlass, having the log long enough to reach across the gap in the river.

Then bore a hole in the log just deep enough to hold a heavy post running around in the middle of the log.

The one who gets to the top is a good thing. But by all means the farmer should breed his flock of hens, and not buy them, as they are not as good as those that are sold.

Buy a good hen and closely pick out each year only his very choicest specimens and breeds from them exclusively.

As the hens become better and better, following out this same practical idea, the farmer who is not too poor for heavy egg production, should pick out the very best layers to be used as breeders, and in the course of a few generations, the habit of prolific will firmly establish in the entire flock.

In the same way the man who is breeding for "green" size and good marked points in his fowls should always pick out his best layers and develop them out and use only from these. It will not be long until this man will have a reputation for marketing the largest and best chickens in the neighborhood.

"Ned" Pasha was the clever one to pick out the best layers and to insure the Macedonian forces, for which ride he was given a fast horse to San Stefano, and there gave news to the czar that he had won the battle of San Stefano, and was his master again.

He was sure of his honesty, otherwise he would have been punished.

"But his timely warning to the troops and embassies saved a whole population from drowning.

For days men had gone crazy, fearing they would drown.

"The great fear is now a reaction movement; but to avoid this we are to have martial law until October, when the czar will be here to inspect the troops and embassies that had found ports in various departments through protection and not from their own capacity, have to be protected.

"The czar will dismiss 150,000 of them who have been there eighteen years or more, are fathers—elderly men, what can they do?"

"The czar is clear that that lot will be full of lies, mostly thin, and likely some are spilling over the grooves.

"If they do not care for the czar, he will get better prices than his unprogressive neighbor. Not only this, but when one breeds a hen, she lays a dozen chickens at ten cents a piece, averaging eight pounds each will bring $8, while the lot averages five pounds, each will bring only $5.

"The difference in value is not so great between the carefully selected flock and the uncared for, and the difference of $300—enough to amount obviously with looking after. R. B. Sando, in the Epitome.

Care of Poults.

Poor little turkeys; how they shorten their necks and cry their hungry note. You say they have plenty to eat, but they don't eat enough.

If this is so, then the poults don't know what they are hungry.

None on their heads or necks say "Please, feed me," when the hen comes.

They will not, but gently spread their wings into a fan and look down, being afraid to be seen.

The chances are that the gourves will be full of lies, mostly thin, and likely some are spilling over the grooves.

"There was a young girl about 12 years old, who was a slave in a house, and asked permission to go to school.

"The czar was a strict master, and when the slaves got out of the house except opposite his own, three houses away from us, kept a strict prison, and rarely selected food and ordered it given to the slaves.

The master who had her, however, was a kind lady of the house, whom I know well, not to speak of her, or give her anything, and so she got out of the house.

The tax assessor thinks he has an excuse for being a pessimist, contends the Chicago News.

If we could see ourselves as others
see us, mused the Philadelphia Record, we probably wouldn't want to look often.

Debt is like a fly trap, submits the American Cultivator, easy enough to find the way in, but only a few lucky specimens get out the same way.

The sugar men plead innocence.
Doubtless, when they did it, thinks the Atlanta Constitution, the poor fellows were walking in their sleep.

In every instance, remarks the Cyclopedia of the Philadelphia Ledger,
the cheapest and best paving is the sort
the man you are talking with has for sale.

While the balance of trade is in our favor steamship reports for the fiscal year show the balance of passengers,
tourists and immigrants is against us.
According to the views of some, admits the Pittsburgh Dispatch, that also is advantageous.

In America, fortunately, boasts the New York American, we are the Europeans of our time, as far as our ways go, as far as our aspirations as far as more, and a great deal more energetic and skillful in taking the money of the little people. But our national resources are very great,
and when the big men have got what they want there is a good deal left.

Lillian Bell of the New York American cast the Horse Show in a calm mood. "I have been," she wrote,
"to the annual exhibition of the thoroughbreds—in the ring and in the boxes, and I can only say that, if this is the best we can do, we would better stick to the breeding of horses.
The brutes in the ring showed their good blood far better than their superiors in the boxes."

Benjamin Franklin, printer, printer and philosopher, when 16 read Tom Tryon's vegetable vagary, became a convert and thought fishing murder, relates the New York Press, but a noisy curiosity showed him little fish in the stomach of big fish. Benny said if big fish eat little ones, it seems not wrong to eat big fish; also phil-osophized how convenient was reason, for it provides a good excuse and a reason for anything you want to do.

In these days of big things a fourth share in a bond issue of $27,000,000 is a mere bagatelle, claims the Philadelphia Inquirer. The importance of the affair consists in the precedent which it establishes. It affirms the principle of the open door as applied in the investment of foreign capital in Chinese enterprises and it gives notice to all concerned that in the development of Chinese resources and in the exploitation of Chinese trade the United States does not mean to be treated as a negligible quantity.

Superficial scrutiny of the vital statistics yields the Jew a prominent position in the sanitary world, if longevity serves as any index of hy-genic living, proclaims the New York Mail. With the average length of life for all Christian peoples placed at 36 years 11 months (1890), the Jew may hope to reach 48 years, according to Nestorius (1885), immigrating into the comparative duration of life and causes of death of Jews and Christians in Frankfort, learned that one fourth of the Jewish population was living beyond the age of 59 years, 10 months. Abbott claims that "they (that is, the Jews) are much less frequently the subjects of tubercular and acute epidemic diseases than any other race of mankind." Why should this seemingly vital superiority exist?
According to Richardson, "causes of death are simply summed up in the term,
'soberness of life.' The Jew drinks less than the Christian; he takes earlier; he eats the children he has brought into the world with greater personal care; he tends the aged more thoughtfully; he takes better care of the poor, and he takes better care of himself. To this might have been added that through genuine customs hygienic tendencies
became as inheritance."

IMMUNE.

"Strange, isn't it, that Teddy does not get the sleeping fever in Africa?"
asks the man. Rockwell can keep sake even in Philadelphia.—Milwaukee Journal.

APPLE-LAND.

Apples along the highway stream,
Along morning all open her doors;
The caving rock, the distant train,
The rattle of the road, the sun, the trees,
The hillside hung with woods and dreams,
Soft gleams of gossamer and dew,
Frisked after the rising moon
The raking light, the shadows, and you.

The wagons filled with apples go,
And green pumpkins and ripe corn,
A singing horse, a laughing dog,
With salutes, all the way.

The goosey dog, the hulking hound,
The friendly voice amid the boughs,
The farmer driving home his team,
The old woman with the wooden cow;

The silver bubble of the creel,
The wail whisper—the day's end,
With murmur of the village street,

Yates' Ranch.

By HERO STRONG.

"Stranger hereabouts, I reckon?"
said the driver, inquiringly, as he pulled up his horses on the plateau to get their water. "I'm a stranger, too, but I'm not here to wash, though when the perlon mountain road ran in a narrow track of white dust, fringed by sagebrush and chaparral."

"How do you know?" asked the stranger of Yates' Ranch?

I reminded the driver that for four years I had been in Europe, and that there was no first trip to California to be had. It is 49, he said, and the Pullman had been dreamt of, and while the new streetcar from sea to sea was a natural setting yet until now but busy brains of travel-scholars, who at that time were careless schoolboys,
doubtless, intent on tops and baubles,
and kits with strawberries tails.

Yates' Ranch had the most of the dismal track which had to be crossed in the overland journey—mostly on the backs of mules, but now in a half a mile distance, a top of lumbering pack-horses, even of which seemed to wrench body and soul apart, to say nothing of the imminence of risk broken backs, and heads hurled over some yawning precipice.

Yates' Ranch was one of the few natural habitats we had passed during the last two days, but no one availed himself of the wild and wild mountain bushes grew on the rude doorstep. It was evidently uninhabited. For want of something better, the driver, who knew by the expression on his face that there was a story, I passed my pipe along to him. Nothing like the habit of tobacco to loosen a man's tongue.

"Come, on fellow," said I, "let's hear the whole of it."

Saunders drew a meditative while whiff of smoke, and then said,
"Study there, Digby," said he.
"Whoa, Satan. Drag the critter, he alters about at that heap of stones, and now I'll tell you the grave of a dead old Saunders, the driver."

Here Saunders blew out a mouthful of smoke in my face, whirled in his leaders and regarded the distant endless reaches of the Sierras with a long-drawn-out sigh.

"Reckon we'll have snow afar
many days, stranger. The air shaves
like a razor."

Already Saunders and his friend were muttering their bones, but never stirred ten steps from that ranch up yonder.

"Then sharp report of a pistol
shattered the air. I saw the smoke
roll down, Yates and his
horses, then his arms went round
her and hers round him, and they were dead. Stranger, rheumatism was powerless to keep me there any longer,
so I went to my feet and out
the night I went, round the hillsides
from the ranch and stirring them up
to vengeance."

"Kill me, Tom," she cried,
"Quick, before he seizes me."

"It is I, Tom. Tom! Heaven is on your heart. On Tom! Tom!
heavens, we shall die together!"

"Then the sharp report of a pistol
shattered the air. I saw the smoke
roll down, Yates and his
horses, then his arms went round
her and hers round him, and they were dead. Stranger, rheumatism was
powerless to keep me there any longer,
so I went to my feet and out
the night I went, round the hillsides
from the ranch and stirring them up
to vengeance."

"Reckon some folks'll say that Osegood had a right to seize her, under the law, but I don't think, under the circumstances, and besides, our blood was up, and there's no knowing what a man'll do when's the case."

"Reckon we'll have snow afar
many days, stranger. The air shaves
like a razor."

What kind of a looking man was he? Well, said Digby, tall, with dark complexion, tall, with long,
curly hair and a heavy mustache."

moment's thought, "I hope to be able to give you some of his son's history."

BREVITIES

B. Y. P. U. Program.

Subject: "Be Temperate in All Things." Leader, Merritt Jones, Scripture, I Cor. 9: 22-29. Papers, Mrs. J. C. Alcock, Miss Laura Cardwell; address by S. S. Cox and others.

Card of Thanks.

I desire through the columns of your paper to express my sincere thanks to my many friends for their kindness to me during my severe illness in sending beautiful flowers, fruits and many other nice things. Respectfully, MRS. D. E. STARK.

Heel Crushed By Wagon.

Marta Milliken, daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Milliken, of Middletown, suffered painful injuries Tuesday morning. She was standing by the road talking to a man when a wagon pulled up and its steel passed behind her, one of the rear wheels crashing her right heel. She was attended by Dr. Luther Mason.

Services At Presbyterian Church.

On next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Rev. Henry West will preach at the First Presbyterian church, and conduct communion services. He will also preach and hold communion services Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Hopewell church. A large crowd is desired at both meetings.

Will Remain at Fern Creek.

Dr. W. M. Roach wishes the Jeffersonian to announce that he has not left Fern Creek and does not expect to leave, for he has received the most hearty support from that community. Reports were afloat that he intended to leave. Dr. Roach is one of the best young physicians in Jefferson county, and Fern Creek people are exceedingly fortunate that he has chosen that community to practice his profession.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to extend my heartfelt thanks to my many kind relatives and friends for their kindness and sympathy shown me in my sad bereavement on the loss of my dear mother. I wish to thank Dr. G. H. Pfeifer for his kind words of consolation and to the pallbearers also to the donors of the beautiful floral offerings.

His Loving Mother and Children.

Methodist Meeting Begins Sunday.
The protracted meeting will begin at the Jeffersonton Methodist church next Sunday, Sept. 12. Day services will be conducted by Mrs. S. G. Shelyell 10 a.m., and Mr. Shellyell will preach each evening at 7:30. The meeting will continue for ten days or longer. Everybody will be given a cordial welcome.

Christian Meeting Closed.

The protracted meeting, which had been in progress for several days at the First Christian church conducted by Rev. N. A. Jones, of Highland Home, Ala., came to a close last night. Eleven members were added to the church, seven by profession of faith and four by letters up to yesterday; we did not get a report of the meeting last night. Mr. Jones did excellent preaching and accomplished much for his church and this community.

Ephrath League Elects Officers.

At a business meeting Monday evening last the Jeffersonton Ephrath League elected the following officers: President, Carl Hartman; 1st vice-president, Lou Bryant; 2d vice-president, Mrs. J. C. Alcock; 3d vice-president, Miss Lucy Kennedy; 4th vice-president, Mrs. Pet Wilcox; secretary, J. C. Alcock; treasurer, Miss Ethel Sproul; exec. agent, Chas. Sibley. Installation service will be held on Sunday evening, Sept. 10th, conducted by Rev. R. K. May.

Surprise Party.

Mrs. Zack Broyles was given a surprise party by her friends of Louisville. Their guest was Mrs. George E. Scott, Mrs. Malinda Broyles, Mrs. Emma Hikes, Mrs. Nannie Wheeler, Mrs. George May, Mrs. William Steer, Mrs. Wendie Ott, Mrs. Anthony McCullen, Mrs. Charlie Riddle, Mrs. Laura Ladd, Mrs. Anna Elyea, Mrs. Catherine Stover, Mrs. Evelyn Wellington, Beulah Broyles and Ruby Broyles, and Mr. Zack Broyles. Refreshments were served, and all reported having a pleasant time.

Fight at The Fair.

James and Ed Scott, who live about two miles from Jeffersonton on the Seatonville Pike, and Dave Wright, of Fern Creek, became engaged in an altercation Saturday evening just outside of the fairgrounds. Wright was struck with a rock, knocking him down and causing him to fall to his feet and cut one of the Scott men when Jim Scott, it is reported, jumped upon him and beat and stamped him to unconsciousness. County Patrolman Frank Tyler and Dave Schaefer, of the Louisville Police, and Mr. Scott took them to Louisville where they gave bond and were released. Their trial comes up before Judge Spain Saturday afternoon at two o'clock upon the charge of assault and battery. It is reported that first Wright could not live, but we learn that he is now improving.

SIDEWALKS.

The Board of Trustees has this week sent notices to property owners to complete their sidewalks. We have extended the time twice and for the last time. According to several wireless messages received at headquarters it seems that there are several hundred persons who think that this is a good idea. If these people have not finished their sidewalks by Sept. 21, we will see that they are made in a hurry, and they will not save money by this. So get busy.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

110-50 Won At Fair.

John Hartman, of Goldsmith Lane, headed the list of prize winners at the Jefferson County Fair last week having won $10.50. His display of farm and garden products were exceptionally fine and took first premium in nearly every exhibit. Mr. Hartman is to be congratulated for his success.

Colored Fair This Week.

The Colored Fern Creek Fair is now in progress at the fairgrounds. Besides a fine display of garden and household products and a goodly number of fine horses, cake walks will take place tomorrow and Saturday this week. The fair is open to all, white and black. Those to take part in the cake walks are the ones that Col. John Whalen now has at White City. They have a world wide reputation, and all who attend the fair will get there money's worth. The cake walk will take place at 3:30 o'clock each day.

We will not tell you what the surprises are, but you can feel assured that you will be agreeably surprised with the values offered in wanted merchandise.

ON WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15,
Southern Indiana Day at the State Fair
A Sale of Yard Wide Brown Hoosier Sheetings, 6c

Everybody knows what Hoosier Sheetings are, so there is no use to dwell upon its merits. But we would suggest that you lay in a supply of this well known sheeting during this sale as the price is exceptionally low and the cotton market today is on the rise.

NEW FALL SUITS, COATS and SKIRTS.

It would be quite impossible to tell you here of all the new style ideas, the many handsome fabrics and new colorings that have been brought out for the coming season's wear. You must come and see and then, only then, will you be able to appreciate what a world of style, good quality and fine tailoring we have been able to put into our POPULAR PRICED GARMENTS.

Tailored Suits

—FROM—

$12.50 to $35

Longer coats and pleated skirts would be the first and most noticeable style change in the new tailor-made suits. Closer inspection will show that they are also more closely fitting—are made, in fact, on entirely new and greatly improved lines.

Our Coat Suits are lined with either Silk or good quality Satin, and are made of fine, all wool Broadcloths, Serges, Cheviots, Worsts, and the new wide-wale fabrics, in all the staple and fancy colorings.

Combined with Correct Style and Good Quality you will find Extreme Price Moderation.

MARKET STREET, NEAR 4th AVENUE,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

J. BACON & SONS
ESTABLISHED IN 1846
INCORPORATED

On Thursday, Sept. 16,
Kentucky Day at the State Fair.
Our Fall Opening of Coats, Suits and Millinery.

This exhibition will be worth a visit to our store. We will show all the new, approved fashions in Women's and Misses' Coats, Suits, Skirts, Waists and Millinery.

The coats will be more expensive than at any of our previous openings, for we bought in anticipation of a greater business this fall. And because of our increased purchases we were able to get closer prices and, of course, will give our customers the benefit.

On Friday, Sept. 17,
Tobacco Growers' Day at the State Fair
A Sale of Genuine American Prints at 6c a Yard.

The prints that everybody knows—the prints that always wear satisfactorily and wash like cotton. In this sale we shall show not only the new 1909 designs in the always desirable blues, greys, reds and navies, but we shall also display an extensive assortment of the more elaborate designs recently brought out by the manufacturer and which were designed expressly to use for dressy dresses and fancy costumes.

On Saturday, Sept. 18,
Everybody's Day at the State Fair.

A General Sale.

This sale will include mostly Ready-to-Wear, Millinery, Footwear and Men's Furnishings. Dress Accessories, such as Veilings, Jewelry, Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, etc., will also be included.

Everything will be sold at prices that will be well worth your while to investigate.

PUBLIC SALE

180 ACRES 180

Of Land in Tracts of 55, 60 and 65 Acres Each, THE SWEENEY'S RANCH, located in Louisville and Taylorsville pile, Horses East of Jeffersontown, Ky., comprises over 400 acres, and in order to reduce its size, its owner Dr. JOS. A. SWEENEY, has ordered me to sell these tracts.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 14

AT 3:30 O'CLOCK (Sharp).

The 60 and 65 acres will be sold in separate tracts, and as a whole, or in aggregate, being the accepted price.

If you want a fair estimate to see what the prices are advancing rapidly, on main thoroughfares, convenient to Market, School and Churches, THIS WILL BE YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

Some of this land is now under cultivation, some from which the forest has been cut, but not cultivated, and the 55-acre tract in woodland.

The land will buy now and not wait until the first of the year when prices will have advanced very materially. Railroads are spending millions of dollars for cars to move our immense crops. 1910 will see more money seeking investment than was ever before known. Now is the time to buy.

Parties from the city can take car at station at 2:15 o'clock and get off at Jeffersontown.

TERMS—One-third cash, balance in 1 and 2 years with interest at 6 per cent, and then.

THE LURE OF THE NORTH.

A Search for Nansen.

BY JOHN RUSTICUS.

Soon we came to land. Lieutenant Peary said we must be in but a short distance of the pole and to land on that island and let him determine just what direction to take. He was greatly excited and to my surprise he said "We were we." While he was using his instruments I was thinking if Mr. Symmes was where we were he would see that the earth had no opening in it 900 miles in diameter as reaching through the earth was the North Pole. No sooner had he said this than he began to jump up and yell and he ran to me and hugged and kissed me and pulled me over to Jim and hugged and kissed me and then jumped and shook hands again. But a few minutes quited down and taking off his hat began singing, we joining in.

All the power of Jesus name

Let Angels prostrate fall
Bring forth the royal diadem
And crown Him Lord of All.

He then said the hope of years is realized, and sang:

The Star Spangle Banner, and we joined in.

Then we tried My Old Kentucky Home, and right away Jim and I started for the ship, he crying Bertha, Bertha, and I, Jane, Jane, and we had it under way starting to Kentucky and to the north a second time. It was a time of being open had icebergs and sealing fields of ice, and seals innumerable, walrus and other creatures of the arctic regions. As we were rounding it we saw something that we must investigate it and so we went. We found instructions from Lieutenant Peary just at what degree to hold our compass to strike an air line for Louisville, and though we had expected at first to take it Manitoba, we came direct to Louisville, where I put Jim out with a grip full of letters from Lieutenant Peary, at the end of the Oklahoma car line at 10:30 p.m., Aug. 11, and we took the train for the city, and about 10 minutes I had the ship in the shed and was soon with the balloon and Lieutenant Peary.

He said descriptions he had read of the construction of Mr. Nansen's balloon must be wrong. It could not be true that he had not been able to get it up, and he could not tell. It might have been this part was on the berg and the other on the land from which the berg fell away. We worked with it till we got it loose and with it and pulled it apart and while we were separating it we then ate one meal on the island and set up the flag of the U. S. and started to find Lieutenant Peary's party.

We did not set up the flag as taking possession for the U. S., but in the name of humanity and as there is no point of the compass but south. No sooner had he said this than he began to jump up and yell and ran to me and hugged and kissed me and then jumped and shook hands again. But a few minutes quieted down and taking off his hat began singing, we joining in,

How I wish every dweller in a city could have four or four acres of good land with a nice house on it and raise their own peaches, apples, berries, vegetables and flowers, and the children could run around with no signs, "Keep off the grass," to molest or make them afraid.

For fear of being tedious in this narrative, I have mentioned many things and as there are so many places and scenes, but I will not go into detail. When among men there shall be neither Greek nor Jew, Barbarian or Scythian, bond nor free. But Christ is all in all.

Before we left the little island Jim told us of a secret which I was unable to tell. The seals were as gentle as house cats and let me walk right over them. So when we got over our Kentucky home sick Jim killed four of them. I begged him to kill the seals, but he said he would not do it. So when we got over our Kentucky home sick Jim killed four of them. We then went on the Peace and killing those seals looked like murder to me, but he said Bertha should have her seal skin close right from the North Pole. Of course, he had not been with me, I do not know how he was with me. As there was no sun he had the fog began to freeze on our sails in the form of sleet and the ship began to sink, when, to keep from falling into the Arctic ocean, we had to turn the ship so that the sun beat hard on the bow and as we went out that bear meat and hide and then we could barely get to camp.

Another time we saw a hill too steep for snow to remain on, that looked like blue lead gold. We went to the top of the hill and I had a conversation with Lucia Ames Mead in the World To-Day for April. To show what can be done if we would put the time and energy spent for destruction into uplifting and upbuilding, what could be done for the race. If we had King Edward and Queen Alexandria reviewed we were put into whales and industrial education how many would be left to be shown the Way, the Truth and the Life and how many would be left who would fail to be ready to read for themselves of that Christ who said: And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

WHAT BATTLESHIP COSTS AND WHAT NOT.

These new battleships will cost $10,250,000 each. The cost of one battleship expended for constructive, armament and do any of the following things:

1. It would put 1000 men ashore in the early morning hours. 2. It would stop a battleship which will just balance the load, another will rise slowly and the third rapidly. With this machine it is only a question of handing the engines.

Since we have come home I have learned the crossing from France to England with the attempt to return and of the Wright Brothers successful trial with one passenger. But what chance would they have on a trip like this just completed by Peary.

There is a mistake. The writers of Kentucky and from the Northern writer is from 22 above to 40 below, and even in the artic circle in the summer time the variations are 60 to 70 degrees, and from cold to cold to cold. If I ever get to Kentucky it will be to go to the artic circle.

Then Jim and I planned to start a line of our ships to parts of Greenland for the summer tourists of next summer and may show the Peace at the State Fair this fall.

He has also seen since my arrival from the Arctic that King Edward and Queen Alexandra have just reviewed a portion of the British fleet. The line of battle ships and other war vessels was 18 miles long. Against air ships like the Peace, we expect to agree to a definite deal.

They are useless, and even with armaments like those of the Wright brothers and submarines.

The sooner nations come under the banner of King Edward the First the better. For the peace of the world.

It is a good idea to have alcohol engines on our ship. Owing to circumstances the Peace will not be shown at the Fair.

JOHN RUSTICUS.

Poor Scamper!—Of course every one knows it was Andre who said away to the North Pole. I am sorry to say that he was right. I have read this article substitute Andre for it. Lieutenant Peary is now Commander Peary. The low temperature reported by Captain Cook was necessary was for us to have alcohol engines on our ship. Owing to circumstances the Peace will not be shown at the Fair.
